

One of the great gifts of the people of our time is the oil-company highway map, detailing the states either singly or by groups and enabling the traveler to find almost every local town in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

But before these maps could be made possible the North American continent had to acquire a system of numbered highway routes. My personal touring experience goes back prior to both numbered highways and road maps. And what do you suppose we had in the way of guides before the day of highway maps?

An article by E. B. White in the July issue of Fort Times tells my memory with this line:

"I suppose modern youngsters have never laid eyes on a Blue Book, that Bible of touring in the early years of the century . . ."

Really, it wasn't so long ago. The Blue Books were standard equipment for car-owning families who expected to get farther than 50 miles from town, along the eastern seacoast, as late as 1920. Filling stations were still haphazardly far apart, only a few highways were numbered, and I don't recall ever seeing an oil-company road map in those days.

What we depended on was a book of minutely-described, selected tours. Since most roads weren't numbered the Blue Book described the route according to mileage, breaking it down to 10ths of a mile.

In those days every car's speedometer had two counters, one for total and the other for trip mileage. You set the trip-mileage indicator at zero to coincide with the Blue Book's starting point for your town — and then started counting landmarks, by the book and the speedometer. Like this —

Of course they got out new editions of the Blue Book every year. They had to. You traveled with an old edition at your own peril — for in the lapse of a year the state might have relocated the iron bridge, and the red barn could have been torn down.

But the Blue Book idea worked. In 1916 a cousin and I fought a Ford roadster 1,100 miles from Pennsylvania to Illinois. We got lost only once, on the outskirts of Terre Haute, Ind. I remember climbing a pole at 2 a.m. and striking matches to read what we supposed was a road sign — only to find a soft-drink advertisement! Truly, life today is a soft touch . . .

ROKs Violently Against Truce Dividing Korea

Staff Officers Work on Final Peace Details

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

PANAJUNJOM, (AP) — Staff officers worked today on final details of a Korean armistice as hundreds of thousands of South Koreans demonstrated violently against the impending truce that will leave their nation divided.

Even as Koreans surged wildly through the streets of Seoul, Allied and Communist teams met in the tiny truce hut at Panmunjom for 12 minutes amid increasing signs that an armistice may be signed within the week.

Although an Allied spokesman gave no hint of what took place in the hut, the briefings of the meeting indicated that only finishing touches remained before a cease-fire agreement was reached.

Lower level officers assembled after the plenary session — possibly to iron out the wording of the document that would call a halt to the bloody three-year-old war.

The Reds asked the recess in the plenary session and another meeting was set for 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. Tuesday EST).

In Seoul, meanwhile, crowds estimated by some authorities as large as 500,000 stormed through the streets of the war-devastated South Korean capital.

While the demonstrations raged, South Korean President Syngman Rhee assembled his generals behind closed doors.

The meeting followed one with Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U.S. Eighth Army commander and the South Korean Cabinet.

A spokesman said the cabinet and national assembly who attended the session reaffirmed their decision to ignore an armistice based on the May 25 U.N. proposal, continue the war, and fight Indian troops if they come into Korea.

The South Korean National Assembly was to hear a recommendation that it declare war on Indian troops if they come into Korea to guard prisoners after an armistice.

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
SEOUL, (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of chanting South Koreans surged through Seoul and other cities today in angry demonstrations against an impending armistice.

Some rocks were hurled by a mob of more than 100,000 which stormed a barricade of bayonet-wielding U.S. military policemen and Korean police outside the Eighth Army headquarters compound here.

Five hoses played on the street ahead of the advancing mob halted by forward momentum, as the crowd milled around, 50 Korean policemen waded boldly in, shouting and shooting. A few minutes later the crowd began breaking up.

No U.S. military personnel were reported injured, but many Koreans in the unruly mob were trampled.

One American MP was grabbed by the mob, but a Korean policeman rescued him uninjured. Other thousands of South Koreans staged protest demonstrations in Pusan, Taegu and Suwon. Continued on Page Two

Rosenbergs Again Appeal to Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Judge Irving R. Kaufman refused again yesterday to grant a new trial to condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The judge also refused to grant a stay of execution pending appeal of the denial of a new trial.

The latest in a long series of moves by defense counsel involved four hours of argument before Kaufman, who originally sentenced the New York City couple to death more than two years ago.

U. S. Atty. J. Edward Lumbard opposed the defense moves.

Rio Grande Has First Water in Days

LAREDO, Tex. (UP) — A tiny stream of water trickled down the dusty bed of the Rio Grande today the first water in the river in four days.

The trickle was only two or three inches deep. But it was a welcome sight to Laredo residents.

The river went dry at 3 p.m. Wednesday for the first time in recorded history. The Mexican government forbade upstream farmers to pump for irrigation and farmers on the U. S. side of the river started a two-day "water holiday" at 5 p.m. Saturday.

Those emergency measures helped. Water started moving in the river early yesterday. The flow was strong enough — the river was two or three inches deep — at Laredo, Tex., and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, began pumping water from supply pools by sundown.

The Laredo waterworks had been pumping at one-third capacity from a rapidly-dwindling pool. The Nuevo Laredo waterworks has been pumping at one-fourth of capacity.

After the river began to flow again the Laredo waterworks increased its pumping to 6,000,000 gallons a day.

The Nuevo Laredo waterworks increased to one-half capacity. Mexican soldiers were sent out to enforce the no-irrigation order on the Mexican side of the river. They sealed the pumps of farmers whom they found violating the order.

Dr. M. L. Muller, city-county health officer in Laredo, warned that the most serious problem is the river stops flowing again will be sanitation.

Says Bell Entitled to Only $1.4 Million

LITTLE ROCK, (AP) — A witness for cities who are protesting Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's application for rate increases said yesterday the Company was entitled to not more than 1.4 million dollars annually in new revenues.

James Honaker of Frankfort, Ky., gave this figure to the Arkansas Public Service Commission in contrast to Bell's contention that it needs 25 million dollars to maintain the traditional six percent rate of return on its investment. Honaker is a former member of the Kentucky Public Service Commission.

Honaker based his 1.4 million recommendation on a 5½ percent return. He used rate base of around 37 million dollars considerably lower than what the Company says its proper rate base is.

Wilson Defends Ike's Plan as Best Route

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON (UP) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson testified today that President Eisenhower's defense budget is the best route to a 154-wing Air Force and any further cuts by Congress would be unwise.

Wilson resumed before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee his defense of cuts made by the administration in the military budget originally submitted by former President Truman. Some senators fear a Korean truce would set off a drive to reduce the defense budget even further in order to cut taxes.

"I hope you won't go through and take the money out as you have in the past," Wilson said, "because we've got it down to where it ought to be."

"Don't follow the precedent of the past — because the budget estimating has been so soft — and take some more money away from us."

Wilson had warned yesterday that "we must keep the nation strong," truce or not.

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ferguson (R-Ich.) predicted today that a cease-fire in Korea would put the squeeze on Congress members who contend President Eisenhower's budget for the Air Force has been cut too sharply.

But at the same time, Ferguson cautioned that the nation "must not be lulled into a sense of false security" by a cease-fire, which seems likely within a few days. Basic long-range defense planning, he said in an interview, must not be changed.

In advance of further testimony today on the Air Force budget by Secretary of Defense Wilson, Ferguson said he foresaw possible savings of between 1½ and 2 billion dollars for such Korean War items as ammunition, troop rotation and the cost of combat flights.

Ferguson is chairman of a Senate appropriations subcommittee now in the midst of public hearings over the controversial five billion dollar cutback and a reduced 120-wing Air Force goal by 1955.

He said senators, most of them Democrats, who are insisting on reinstatement of the 43 wing goal by 1955 proposed by the Truman administration are in a "very much weaker position" now that a Korean cease-fire seems imminent.

Wilson told the subcommittee yesterday the Eisenhower Air Force program would guarantee the nation what he said it already has — "the best Air Force" in the world. Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, outgoing Air Force chief of staff, told the subcommittee last week the cutbacks would mean the U.S. would have a "second-best" Air Force.

Robinson added he felt that the Southern States eventually would equalize Negro and white schools to the point where the segregation issue would become "unimportant."

Arch Ford state education commissioner, agreed with McCaig that the Court's decision would give Arkansas more time to improve its Negro school facilities.

Cafes in Washington Must Serve Negroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today upheld an 1873 law which required District of Columbia restaurants to serve Negroes provided they are well behaved.

The act has not been endorsed for many years.

But not even today's 80 high court ruling wiped out the long litigation that has grown out of the practice in many eating places here to refuse to serve Negroes.

The tribunal sent the case back to the Court of Appeals here and told it to decide whether the 1873 law — guaranteeing that well-behaved persons of any race be served — was enacted a year earlier. The 1892 law required that all "respectable" persons be served without regard to race.

The point is a technical one, and has no real bearing on the court's finding.

The case had no bearing on another segregation case pending before the high court, dealing with segregation in District of Columbia schools. The court gave no indication that it was deciding the school case today.

Congressmen Wary of Red Trickery

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress members, wary of possible Communist trickery balanced liabilities against assets today and found little beyond the paramount saving of lives to approve in a Korean truce.

Notable exception the lawmakers expressed hope that the Republic of Korea government will accept an armistice and avoid what some of them said otherwise could become a dangerous situation for American troops on the battle line.

Unanimously, legislators who commented were happy that the shooting seems likely to stop within a few days.

But there was evident dissatisfaction with the truce terms, mixed with a realization among the legislators that a cease-fire will bring little, if any, decline in American expenditures and will offer no solution to pressing Asiatic political problems.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An engineering survey is being made of the chemical processes and other operations planned at the Batesville, Ark., manganese plant of the Westmoreland Manganese Co.

A spokesman for the Defense Materials Procurement Agency disclosed today that the review was under way. He said construction at the plant will remain halted until the survey is completed.

The DMPA spokesman said the survey is being made by the Southwestern Engineering Co., of Los Angeles, and includes all phases of the Batesville operation, including whether the contemplated end product will meet specifications.

The survey he emphasized, does not in any sense mean the plant will not go forward.

FT. SMITH (AP) — U. S. Dist. Atty. R. S. Wilson filed suit in Federal Court here yesterday to recover $100,793 from an Arkadelphia grain storage company for alleged damage to grain stored for the Commodity Credit Corporation.

The defendants were listed as the Southern Grain & Storage Co., of Arkadelphia; James Floyd Tipps, president; Kenneth Countess, secretary-treasurer, and the National Surety Corp.

The suit alleges Southern misrepresents the storage facilities at its warehouse when a contract was first signed to store grain on April 7, 1950. Specifically, the suit said the cooling and grain handling systems were misrepresented.

DeGaspri May Lose Some of His Power

By JAMES M. LONG
ROME (AP) — A close, see-saw vote count put Italy's new American government in peril today of losing the legislative majority it needs to insure ratification of the European army plan and continue its record of postwar stability.

Premier Alcide de Gasperi's NATO - allied center coalition appeared certain to emerge as Italy's strongest faction, but steady Communist strength and the skyrocketing extreme right wing of Monarchists and Fascists threatened to leave the parliamentary balance of power with a half dozen minor and splinter parties lined up with neither the government nor the opposition.

With senatorial votes being counted ahead of those for the more important Chamber of Deputies, the final outcome appeared likely to remain in doubt until sometime tomorrow. The senatorial tally was watched closely as an indication of how the government would fare finally.

The total of 28,300,010 votes cast was enormous, almost 94 per cent of the electorate. It was probably the heaviest percentage turnout in the history of modern Democrats.

One Flint man who went through it all said: "It was the most terrible thing I ever saw."

The Flint tornado, which hedged hopped easterly through Michigan's "Thumb" to Lake Huron, dwarfed half a dozen others which struck along a 350-mile north-south line for Tawas City, Mich., to Bowling Green, O.

All in all, more than 200 persons were injured and property damage ran into the millions.

At least a dozen persons were killed in two Ohio tornadoes. Eight were killed in the Cuyahoga area, two in Cleveland, and one each at Elyria and Cuyahoga.

In Michigan four persons were known dead near Erie, just north of Toledo and the Ohio Michigan line. A Highland Park, Mich., couple was found dead in the tornado wreckage car in Inisco County near Tawas City, Mich., and their two children were missing. One other death was feared in the county.

One man was killed near Ann Arbor, in Washtenaw County, and one in Lapeer County, near Brown City.

Apparently the same tornado which wrought so much destruction here and then moved on through Lapeer County also cut a swath through to Lakeport. This is a Lake Huron village a short distance north of Port Huron, where another tornado hit May 21.

There were injuries but no deaths reported at Lakeport. The same tornado which struck in the Pleasant Lake region of Washtenaw County swirled on to Milford, causing an estimated $500,000 property damage to that Oakland County community. No fatalities were reported there, however.

Flint Apparently Hardest Hit City With 113 Dead

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — Six roaring tornadoes smashed parts of Michigan and Ohio last night, killed 141 people injured over 750 and wrecked multi-million dollar property damage.

The most deadly of the shrieking windstorms buffeted Flint, a heavily industrialized city of 103,000 about 70 miles north of Detroit. In Flint alone, at least 113 were killed.

Flint, Mich. (AP) — A volley of tornadoes roared through South-eastern Michigan and Northwestern Ohio last night, staggering the two states with an appalling toll which today had 131 dead and more than 700 injured.

Flint, a booming industrial city of 103,000 some 70 miles north of Detroit, lay like a bomb target in the wake of the most deadly of the half dozen or more twisters. Killed bodies of 111 victims were scattered over the city's outskirts, state police reported.

City officials predicted that the toll eventually climbed to one of the highest ever suffered by an American city from a tornado.

Some of them said it may double the present count when the last of the rubble is cleared away. Records show St. Louis, Mo., had 300 killed in a tornado May 17, 1896.

State police and National Guard search crews worked through the night, probing through piles of debris sucked up in the big black funnel and dumped over the countryside.

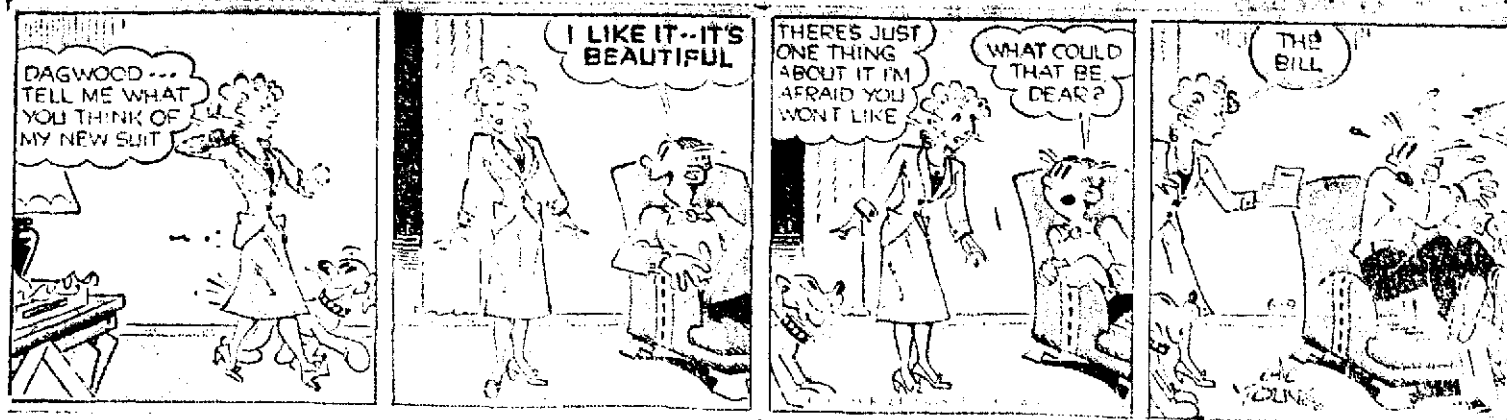

One Flint man who went through it all said: "It was the most terrible thing I ever saw."
